

Call for projects:
Luminale 2016 – Biennale of Lighting Culture
2016, March 13 – 18

Register now – until 1st December 2015.

For more than 12 years now, Luminale has been held every two years, alongside the Light+Building trade fair. With its 250.000 visitors at the last event (in 2014), it is now firmly established internationally as the Biennale of Lighting Culture. Luminale forms the evening programme for the 210.000 visitors of Light+Building. The combination of trade fair and city event transforms Frankfurt into a unique centre for lighting-related issues and brings together the “who is who” in the sector from manufacturers to designers and artists. It is an opportunity to see and be seen; an opportunity that occurs – in this concentrated form, at least – only once every two years during Light+Building. A shuttle service links the fair ground and the city. Luminale is a platform for ideas and innovations that relate to lighting, energy efficiency, the application of new technologies and materials and to the quality of life in our cities. Participation in Luminale is a tried and tested instrument for gaining public attention.

How do I set about participating?

Obligatory Registration and Media-Entry

Designers, lighting planners, artists, manufacturers and cultural institutions can register their projects at the Luminale Project Office. This is also necessary for all pre-registered projects.

Possible projects are, for example: installations and designer items in the public domain, architectural lighting, illuminations, performances, displays and exhibitions, guided tours, symposia, lectures and receptions (launches, private views, parties etc).

Application deadline: 1st December 2013.

The project must take place during Light+Building 2016, March 13 - 18 in Frankfurt or Offenbach, must be open to the public and represent a contribution to the development of lighting culture in general.

All substantive, organisational and financial liability is to be borne by the applicant for registration.

No prior automatic right to be included in the programme and in the publicity for Luminale exists. The decision as to whether or not a project is accepted as part of the Luminale programme lies solely with the Project Office.

Please fill in the registration form for your Luminale Project and send it together with all other materials by post only to:
